

Charles B. McMichael,
Law Offices,
217 South Sixth Street.

Philadelphia, Apl. 5, 1893.

My Dear Colonel Bosbyshell:-

A friend of mine, Miss Fannie L. Price, whose appointment to a place in the Mint you were kind enough to confirm some time ago, has been very ill. She lost her mother recently, and she is in great distress, fearing she may lose her place through absence. As soon as the doctor will permit her, she will be back at her post of duty, and until that time I hope you will continue her leave of absence for say a fortnight from the expiration of the old leave. I wrote to Mr. Steel, who has been very kind in the matter.

Yours very truly,

Charles B. McMichael

Col. O. C. Bosbyshell,
Supt., United States Mint,
Philadelphia.

NARA RG104, Entry 1, Box 180

Charles B. McMichael,
Law Offices,
Philadelphia,
April 5, 1893

My Dear Colonel Bosbyshell: -

A friend of mine, Miss Fannie L. Price, whose appointment to a place in the Mint you were kind enough to confirm some time ago, has been very ill. She lost her mother recently, and she is in great distress, fearing she may lose her place through absence. As soon as the doctor will permit her, she will be back at her post of duty, and until that time I hope you will continue her leave of absence for say a fortnight from the expiration of the old leave. I wrote to Mr. Steel, who has been very kind in the matter.

Yours very truly,
Charles B. McMichael

Col. O.C. Bosbyshell,
Supt., United States Mint,
Philadelphia.